

In search of new ways to participate and intervene with an intersectional approach

The case of the project Polyhedral views of gender violence

The project "Polyhedral views of gender violence" proposes to explore ways of preventing harassment with an intersectional approach: understanding the relationship between the axes of inequality, in order to combat stigmatization and victimization and, at the same time, showing the complexity of the map of oppressions that can be crossed in a classroom.

Speaker: Miquel Missé