

Looking for synergies: experiences and challenges in crossing axes of inequality

The case of Turin, Italy

The Turin LGTB Office has carried out various projects that have incorporated the intersectional approach both in relation to the City Council's own staff - for example, through training - as well as work in collaboration with the social organizations - with the creation of meeting spaces between women's organizations and LGBT groups for the joint approach to the common causes of gender, homophobic and transphobic violence.
